

Dossier Proposals

The Dossiers section gathers a minimum of 4 (four) and a maximum of 8 (eight) articles with a common theme related to the objectives and interests of the Journal. This section arises from the proposal of one or more academics or researchers who function as the Dossier coordinators, who are in charge of organizing the material presented for the section.

The Dossier coordinator(s) open the section with an introductory text that synthetically presents the state of the question addressed and specifies the contributions of the articles gathered.

Submission of dossiers

Proposals must be submitted between 6 (six) and 12 (twelve) months before the date of publication, with a general descriptive title of the problem to be addressed and a brief descriptive text of the scope of the article to be considered by the journal's editorial committee.

The proposal must be accompanied by a brief curriculum vitae of the coordinator(s) (up to 3 (three) pages with the academic activities and scientific production of the last few years); and the list of possible participants and their institutional affiliation.

Proposals should be sent to: revistarecial@gmail.com

Evaluation of dossiers

The review and acceptance of dossier proposals will be the responsibility of the Editorial Board, in consultation with the Academic-Advisory Board.

Once the acceptance of the dossier has been decided, in accordance with the objectives of the journal, RECIAL also opens the call for participation in the dossier to members of the national/international academic community who study the specific topic. In this case, the papers received are sent to the coordinator(s) or the person(s) in charge of the dossier for consideration of their relevance and acceptance in the section's discourse as a whole.

Editing and publication of the Dossier

The coordinator(s) will be the exclusive link between the journal and the authors at the different stages of the evaluation, editing and publication process. All articles accepted by the coordinators are then submitted to RECIAL editorial policy. In other words, they are submitted to double-blind peer review and are required to comply with the style and length standards set by the journal. All papers presented in the dossier, as in the rest of the journal, must be unpublished and original and must not be considered in other publications during the editing and publication process in RECIAL.

Authors will be notified of the acceptance or rejection or request for modifications to the manuscript through the coordinator/s of the Dossier, who will be responsible for compliance with the deadlines agreed at each stage. The decisions of the Editorial Committee and the results of the refereeing process are final.